

Paper 2

Think of the psychological traits listed in Chapter 1 of Lippa's book. Are you above average on any of them in ways that are consistent with your gender? Connect this aptitude(s) with your parents' characteristics (your genetic inheritance) and your home life (your environment). Argue that your phenotype (who you are/your observable trait(s)) is a function of both your genes and your environment from either a Gene-Environment Correlation OR a Gene-Environment Interaction perspective.
