Name and Address Here

This letter will constitute an Agreement between Routledge, a member of the Taylor & Francis Group, 270 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10016, (the "Publisher") and you for the inclusion of your contribution:

(Chapter title)

in A Clinician's Guide to Normal Cognitive Development (hereinafter called the Work) edited by Elisabeth Hollister Sandberg and Rebecca Spritz (hereinafter called the Editors).

You shall be given full authorship credit for your Contribution on the first page of your Contribution as it appears in the Work and reference to your Contribution may be made in promotion of the Work.

The foregoing shall constitute the full consideration for your Contribution and you shall be entitled to no other compensation or reimbursement of any kind from the Publisher in connection with the Work or your Contribution.

On request from Publisher or Editors, you shall promptly read and return any page proofs of your Article.

You grant to the Publisher the exclusive right to use the Contribution in the Work. Copyright in the Work shall be owned by Publisher, which shall have the exclusive right to publish, and license publication of, the Work, including the contribution, in all editions, including translations, adaptations and derivative works, and in all forms and media. However, copyright in your individual Contribution shall be retained by you and you shall retain the right to publish, and to license others to publish, your individual Contribution in: (a) other books, professional papers and journal articles or other publications, in any form or media, authored solely by you; as well as, (b) any other publication, in any form of medium, to which other authors contribute, provided you have obtained Publisher's prior written confirmation that such publication does not conflict with Publisher's publication of the Work.

You warrant that the Contribution is your original work (except for materials you include in it for which you provide valid written permission of others), and that its creation and publication will not be libelous or violate any copyright or any personal proprietary right, including rights of confidentiality of patients, of any person or entity. You agree to indemnify the publisher against any breach of such warranty.

You understand that the Publisher will proceed with the use of your Contribution in reliance upon this agreement, which shall not be revocable.

Routledge shall give the Author one free copy of the Work. The Author may purchase additional copies for his/her own use at a discount of 25 percent from the prevailing retail price.

You agree that you will receive no royalty under this agreement.

It is agreed that the Contribution will be written to the satisfaction of the Editors.

This letter constitutes the entire agreement between you and the Publisher and supersedes any other understanding, oral or written. This agreement is made under and shall be governed by New York law. Its provisions may not be modified, canceled or waived unless in writing signed by both you and Publisher.

If this letter satisfactorily states our mutual agreement please sign and return the enclosed copy. We look forward to the publication of your contribution as part of this important Work.

Sincerely,

Marta Moldvai
Editorial Assistant

PERMISSION PROCEDURE

Dear Contributor;

It is with great eagerness that we strive to publish your work and as you know a (crucial, vital, very important, indispensable) part of the process is to ensure that we meet all legal requirement before we can publish your work. Please read carefully the Permission Procedure and follow all the necessary steps for securing that your work meets legal requirement. As the author, it is your responsibility to obtain all necessary permissions for copyrighted material.

The Permission Procedure involves the following steps:

1. Complete the Permission Verification Form (PVF) – Page 2
2. Submit to copyright owners the Copyright Permission Request (CPR) – Page 3
3. Fax or email to Taylor and Francis the PVF, and a copy of the CPR you sent to the copyright owner
4. Once you secure from the copyright owners the written permission, please fax a copy to Taylor and Francis

Permission Verification Form (PVF) – Page 2

Carefully read and fill out the PV form, sign it and return to Taylor and Francis. Every text excerpt, figure, and table in your work must be either original, fall within the public domain, or have written permission for use. This form must be completed and returned even if there are no figures or table in your section.

Option A – No Permission Required

My work, text/figure(s)/table(s), is original, has not been published before, or is in the public domain. If you select this option please:

- Complete and sign the Contributor/Chapter Information section in the PVF
- Submit the completed P.V. form via fax to (212) 563-2269.

Option B – Written Permission Must Be Obtained By The Contributor

The following text/figure(s)/table(s) have been published before in the following sources. I will obtain written permission from the copyright owner. If you select this option please:

- Complete and sign the Contributor/Chapter Information section
- Send to the copyright owner/s listed in the PV form the Copyright Permission Request
- Submit to Taylor and Francis via fax to (212) 563-2269 the completed P.V. and C.P.R.

Use one CPR for each copyright owner for the material you want to publish in your work. Indicate the text excerpt, figure or table number in your manuscript as it will appear in the T&F publication. Reference the title/author/publication date/figure, table, or text excerpt/pages[s] of the Source in the publication of the copyright owner. Submit written permission letters to Taylor and Francis and keep a copy for your records.

It is important that the all the contact information for the Owners be completed (i.e. contact person, organization address, city, state, country and most important phone number, when possible email) this enable Routledge to expedite the process.

We greatly appreciate your prompt attention to this important matter of complying with the legal requirement to request in written permission from the copyright owner of the text excerpt, figure, or table you need to publish in your chapter. In this request you must identify the text excerpt/figure/table number in the Routledge publication and the original source.
